A Great Week of Camp

It is always good to spend time together as Christians. Acts 2:42 reminds us that the early church continued in the apostle's doctrine, in fellowship, the breaking of bread and prayers. We should also follow that pattern and one of the ways we do that is with our camp week.

The subject for our week was Dinosaurs and the Creation. It was an exceptional study and our young people learned a lot about how to defend the truth about what the Bible has to say about this subject. One of the key messages during the week was Christians should not be afraid of science, because God created science! The staff was well prepared and did an awesome job sharing the truth of God!

The highlight of the week happened around 2 am Thursday morning. Travis Pickron was baptized into Christ. He studied with Jay Giangrossi, one of our counselors. We were so happy to have a new brother in Christ!

Our group represented our congregation well. All of our young people participated in Bible studies and our young men lead in worship or devotionals several times each. Lois Ann Freeman was selected Ms. CFBC by the staff.

I want to thank everyone who gave money, prayed for, sent their children to our week. It
